3 Composition Tips

1. Get Closer To Your Subject

This will help eliminate distracting elements from your photo and make sure that what you want people to see in your image is what they will see.

2. Change Your Shooting Angle

This will help show a perspective of your subject that we don't normally see which will automatically make your photo more interesting and engaging to look at.

3. Scan Your Frame

This goes along with #1 and #2. By pausing before you shoot your photo to scan the frame you can find and fix composition problems before you shoot the photo.
